Fenzi North America joins Partners in Project Green Business Ambassador network

Partners in Project Green's Business Ambassadors make up a select community of companies being recognized for best-in-class efforts in transforming the employment lands surrounding Toronto Pearson into an internationally recognized eco-business zone. Fenzi North America has joined this community of excellence working together to create a world class eco-business zone. Fenzi North America has shown its commitment to sustainability through its waste reduction and toxic chemical reduction programs. The organization has established a post consumer material recycling program that diverts close to 20 tons of materials from landfill, and their in house paper recycling program sees over 90% of packaging paper recycled. To reduce toxic chemical use, Fenzi North America manufactures solvent free (no volatile organic compounds) adhesives and is moving towards reducing other toxic materials in their manufacturing process.

Partners in Project Green is honoured to include Fenzi North America in the growing roster of environmental leaders in the Pearson Eco-Business Zone, that includes other green business leaders such as GTAA, Woodbine Entertainment Group and Unilever. As a Business Ambassador, Fenzi North America gains access to dedicated business advisory services such as assistance in identifying service providers, coordinating regulatory and stakeholder meetings, and advancing company specific eco-business opportunities. Through their leadership as a Business Ambassador, Fenzi North America has committed to continuing their march towards sustainability and working with other companies in the Pearson Eco-Business Zone to reduce their costs and identify new business opportunities from sustainability.
